Fr. Yvon's Weekly Reflection New Opportunities!

Dear Friends, Last week as part of my reflection I asked everyone to pray for our college students as they headed off to college. Today I would like to look at the new opportunities that are in front of all of our teachers and our children as a new school year begins. How each day is approached is up to all of you who fall into the definition of teacher or student. I truly believe that how your day ends is based on how it begins. What do I mean by this? If you look at the day as an opportunity to connect, share, and grow then most likely this will happen. If however you see the day as another day to endure then you have determined what your day will be like already. May each day be seen as an opportunity and know God's Blessing because of it.

God's continued Peace, Fr. Yvon
